

"BABY MINE"

Becoming a mother should be a source of joy, but the suffering incident to the ordeal makes its anticipation one of dread. Mother's Friend is the only remedy which relieves women of much of the pain of maternity; this hour, dreaded as woman's severest trial, is not only made less painful, but danger is avoided by its use. Those who use this remedy are no longer despondent or gloomy; nervousness, nausea and other distressing conditions are overcome, and the system is prepared for the coming event. "It is worth its weight in gold," say many who have used it.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

A GREAT NOVEL

Is Newton Ridgely's "By Law of Might" Which is Thrilling and Serious

The reader who desires a modern novel replete with incident, with characters possessing vitality, with situations vivid and a purpose up-to-date, will find in "By Law of Might" a story which fulfills in large measure these essential demands. It has, besides, a distinctive style, and though at intervals a trifle prolix, abounds in dramatic situations and terse epigrams. It is a book in which probably very few readers will be disappointed, as unfortunately with so much fiction nowadays.

The dollar mark and the scarlet letter are inseparably linked in its daring expose of Wall Street and high life's marvellous infidelities, yet the story is told with due regard for decency and without the filth which clings to books of a certain stamp. Though full of action wherein interest never flags, it is a novel that makes one THINK, and that one should be better, not worse, for having read.

OVERTAXED

Hundreds of Clarksburg Readers Know What It Means.

The kidneys are overtaxed. Have too much to do. They tell about it in many aches and pains. Backache, sideache, headache. Early symptoms of kidney ills. Urinary troubles, diabetes, Bright's disease follow.

A Clarksburg citizen tells here of a certain cure.

Mrs. J. W. Harden, living at 321 Jackson street, Clarksburg, W. Va., says: "I was in poor health for a number of years. I had a dull bearing-down pain across my kidneys accompanied at times by rheumatic twinges so severe that I was hardly able to get around. The kidney action at times was too frequent and again just the reverse. My head ached a great deal at times, the pain extending to the back of my head, and in the morning I would be tired and languid. There was a puffiness under my eyes, and my ankles would often be swollen. My health was in a serious condition and when I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box at Wells & Haymaker's Drug Store. I soon felt their good effects and in a short time my own my present healthy condition entirely to Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, Sole Agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

PLAYS and PLAYERS

There is hardly anyone throughout the country who hasn't at least heard of "The Best New England Story Ever Written," "Quincy Adams Sawyer." It was written by Charles Felton Pidgin, which he is calling "The Toy-makers," and from which has been made an exceedingly bright and interesting musical comedy.

This musical comedy, which is, like the book, entitled "The Toy-makers," will soon be an attraction at the Grand Opera House and from all advance information, amusement seekers in this town would do well to see it. The date of the production of "The Toy-makers" is Nov. 26, 1903, and it will be given for one night only.

The production is given by "The Joillites," that famous company of merry-makers, comedians, comedienne, singers and dancers. The story is a fantastic little bit of nonsense, telling the complications arising from the invention by John Senior Stubbs of a mechanical doll, brought to life by the aid of electricity. It is Happy Marriage. Mr. Frohman will make the first production of "The Happy Marriage" in New York with Miss Doris Keane in the principal part. After the American production and by arrangement with Mr. Frohman, "The Happy Marriage" will be produced in London with Miss Mary Moore and Sir Charles Wyndham in the principal parts.

Paul Gilmore, in the newest of new uniforms, will be seen at the Grand opera house November 13, in "The Boys of Company B."

The shortest speaking part in any play is that of Cowankatchie, the Indian in Edgar Selwyn's "Pierre of the Plains," now at the Hudson Theatre, played by George Schaeffer, an actor of years experience. The lines spoken by Mr. Schaeffer are "Me Like."

Miss Billie Burke's engagement in "Love Watches" at the Lyceum theatre has again been extended. Miss Burke will remain at the Lyceum uneasy to imagine amusing situations which develop from such a combination of circumstances.

Of music, there is plenty—twenty-six numbers in all, which have been written by Charles D. Blake and John A. Bennett. "The Joillites" carry all their own scenery, representing an old English toy-shop and the costumes are both rich and artistic in design. There is 150 minutes of clean entertainment and it would be difficult to devise a better way to spend an evening.

Incidentally, as preparation for the play, it might be well for intending patrons to get Mr. Pidgin's book, "The Toy-makers."

Maud Knowlton, who is appearing as Mrs. Brockton with Robert Edeson in "The Call of the North," posed for St. Gaudens, the sculptor, for his last work prior to his death. Miss Knowlton, it will be remembered was the original "Simpson" with Rose Stahl in "The Chorus Lady."

Charles Frohman has accepted a new play by Clyde Fitch called "The il after the holidays instead of, as was originally planned, beginning a road tour November 30th. The two months allotted to Miss Burke in Boston will be taken by "The Thief" company of which Kyrle Bellew is the star.

Rose Stahl, who is starring in James Forbes' comedy, "The Chorus Lady," although she portrays a slangy character of a low comedy type, finds her greatest interest in reading Moliere, which is a strange antithesis from the idea conveyed of her character as represented by the part she plays.

William Gillette has made an agreement with Charles Frohman to continue in the part of "Samson" for the next two years. During that time Mr. Gillette will complete the manuscript of a new American play, the scenario of which is already finished. The subject of Mr. Gillette's new play, in which he himself will appear, will be a Civil War incident of the order of "Secret Service."

A MEDFORD STORY.

Legend of the Phantom Ship and its Mad Pirate Captain.

The town of Medford, Mass., has a legend of a phantom ship beside which the Flying Dutchman is only a peaceful merchantman. The Medford story runs that a ship laden with rum and gold and silver bars put out from that place in the days when the Spanish main was infested with pirates. It was headed for a West Indian port, but got into the doldrums and was so long becalmed that water and provisions gave out, and all hands perished of thirst and starvation. When the wind came up again the ship sailed away with her ghastly crew, was seen by a buccannier, chased and overhauled.

The pirate captain made fast to his prize without firing a single shot, and, attributing the vessel's nonresistance to fear or lack of arms, he was the first man to leap on board. But the rope with which the captured ship had been carelessly lashed to his own parted under the strain of the seaway, and he found himself rapidly borne away from his comrades on what he soon discovered to be a floating coffin. A stiff breeze filled the sails of the derelict, and before his own vessel could overtake it night descended on the ocean, and the pursuing ship lost sight of it altogether. Left alone in pitch darkness on the ghoulish craft, the pirate went mad with terror and, seizing the wheel, raced away before the wind and, according to the legend, was condemned to barge the seas forever thus in command of his horrible prize.

Woe to the ship that encountered it scudding along by moonlight or in the lightning's glare, manned by skeletons and steered by a shuffling, gesticulating madman, and when on several occasions it was sighted in the fog off Medford it was considered as the herald of storm and disaster and the loss of many ships.—New York Press.

A GENTLE REPROACH.

Telling Retort of the Lamblike, Violet Eyed Beauty.

There is a certain young woman who is beautiful, with that childish, wistful, innocent looking, violet eyed beauty which reduces one-half the feminine world to tears, the other half to utterly helpless rage. We all know the type, but it is seldom given us to see it in such perfection. We usually associate it with a lamblike, appealing mentality that permits itself to be ridden upon—as soon expect a wood violet to turn and read you.

A short time ago she was asked to a woman's luncheon and got herself up for the occasion in a way that made the result of her efforts a thing not easily forgotten. She arrived looking so lovely that there was little said among the guests for a few moments after her entry into the room. Perhaps she felt the silence. At all events, she turned to the woman standing nearest her and said in a childish voice, with ever such a little lisp and pretty southern accent:

"How well you're lookin' today!" It was a well meant civility from a young woman to an older one, who seemingly was unable to accept it as such and put up her lorgnette, sweeping the speaker from top to toe. What she saw was enough to disconcert a younger and prettier woman than herself, but even so one finds it difficult to justify her next move.

"Wish I could say the same for you," she returned, closing her lorgnette with a snap. One or two of the guests were friends of the pretty woman and almost stopped breathing in order not to miss what they felt sure would come—and it came. The pretty one raised her eyebrows slightly, then said, with an air of gentle reproach: "Why don't you lie like a lady, like I do?"—Rehoboth Sunday Herald.

This Is The Way To Wash

With P. & G. Naphtha Soap. Try it, next washday.

WHITE CLOTHES.—Dip each piece in lukewarm water. Rub soap on the soiled parts and roll up. Pack balls in a tub and cover with lukewarm (not hot) water. Let them soak half an hour or longer. Fill a tub half full of lukewarm (not hot) water; unroll each piece and rub soiled parts on the washboard, using fresh soap. The dirt will come out with little or no rubbing. Rinse in two warm waters and blue in a third cooler water. Excepting in cases of sickness, clothes need not be boiled. Hang them up to dry in sunshine and fresh air.

Isn't this simpler and easier and better than your present method? And wouldn't it be a good idea to try P. & G. Naphtha Soap and see if it really is as effective as we say it is?

The experiment costs little—a five cent cake is ample for a week's washing.

More Than Enough Too Much.

Tomaintain health a mature man or woman needs just enough food to repair the waste and supply energy and body heat. The habitual consumption of more food than is necessary for these purposes is the prime cause of stomach troubles, rheumatism and disorders of the kidneys. If troubled with indigestion revise your diet, let reason and not appetite control and take a few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and you will soon be all right again. For sale by all dealers.

WHY SUFFER?

Breathe Hyomei and Kill the Loathsome Catarrh Germs.

Just as long as you have catarrh your nose will itch, your breath will be foul, you will hawk and spit, you will do other disgusting things because you can't help yourself. The germs of catarrh have got in your power; they are continually and persistently digging into and irritating the mucous membrane of your nose and throat. They are now making your life miserable; in time they will sap your entire system of its energy, its strength, its vigor and vitality.

If you do not kill the loathsome germs of catarrh, their desperate assaults will in time undermine your reason, rob your brain of its brilliancy and activity, and leave you not only a physical but a mental wreck. This picture is not overdrawn; the writer has seen thousands of just such cases. He has personally experienced the demoralizing results that come from the ravishing attacks of the horrible catarrh germs, the greatest pest of civilized nations.

But there is one remedy that will kill the germs and cure catarrh, and that is Hyomei, the Australian dry air treatment. There may be other remedies but they are not guaranteed as Wells & Haymaker the druggists, will guarantee Hyomei to cure catarrh or money back. Don't delay this pleasant antiseptic treatment. Every day you allow these germs to exist in your system brings you nearer to complete demoralization. Wells & Haymaker will sell you a complete Hyomei outfit for only $1.00. Ask them about it. It is also guaranteed to cure bronchitis, asthma, coughs, colds and hay fever.

Why Colds are Dangerous Because you have contracted ordinary colds and recovered from them without treatment of any kind, do not for a moment imagine that colds are not dangerous. Every one knows that pneumonia and chronic catarrh have their origin in a common cold. Consumption is not caused by a cold but a cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the germs that would not have otherwise found lodgment. It is the same with all infectious diseases. Diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles and whooping cough are much more likely to be contracted when the child has a cold. You will see from this that more real danger lurks in a cold than in any other of the common ailments. The easiest and quickest way to cure a cold is to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The many remarkable cures effected by this preparation have made it a staple article of trade over a large part of the world. For sale by all dealers.

Jenny's uncle, who was a school teacher, met her on the street one beautiful May day and asked her if he was going to the Maypole dance. "No, I ain't going," "Oh, my little dear," said her uncle, "you must not say 'I ain't going.' You must say 'I am not going.'" And he proceeded to give her a little lesson in grammar. "You are not going. He is not going. We are not going. You are not going. They are not going. Now, can you say all that, Jenny?" "Sure, I can," she replied, making a courtesy. "There ain't nobody going."—Dad's Home Journal.
